Cast iron candle holders by different other designers:
an overview of known designs. (Update December 2020)

Because of the updates: don't forget to look regularly on www.20century.eu for the latest news.

The oldest known modern design in cast iron: Hans Christiansen
ca. 1910.

Originally marked with CH and probably not made in cast iron! Also found with other markings from foundry schools, even a Dutch one: Werkspoor! And a German one: Giesserei Institut (Foundry Institute) Aachen!

Oisin Kelly for Kilkenny Design, by Waterford Iron Founders Ireland.

Man and woman + two men, two designs of 1967.

Still a riddle from the sixties: a range of candleholders with accent of trees and branches. The only fact I know, they are from an Austrian designer, name unknown. The two pictured ones are often attributed to Horst Dalbeck because they have a label with his name, but I could prove they are not. You can find them perfect cast and finished by polishing in bronze. Horst Dalbeck has a bronze foundry, mainly for funeral bronzes as lanterns, ornaments and wreaths. In my collection I have both candle holders in cast iron and in bronze, the bronze one marked by Horst Dalbeck. The cast iron holders are larger, ca 5 mm so the bronze ones are copies.
